

Dr. Margaret Akinyi Abira

Margaret rose through the ranks serving in various capacities including heading the Central Water Testing Laboratory, later head of the National Water Quality Monitoring Program. She participated in various national programs including the National Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) Program, the drafting of the EIA guidelines and procedure and the UNEP/UNDP project on the development and harmonization of environmental standards in Kenya. She was the representative of the water sector in the Inter-Ministerial Committee on Environment and the steering committee of the Biodiversity Data Management Project in Kenya. She holds a PhD from the UNESCO-IHE Institute for Water in a sandwich program. She has been working in water field for quite a very long time and has worked on many projects both national and international. She is now working on Environmental and Social Impact assessments, Environmental Monitoring of Projects, Water Resources Assessments.

www.cidragroup.com